

West Palm Beach

what was. what is. what could be.

January 27-28, 2018 - The Howl at the Moon URBAN STORIES FESTIVAL is a two-day storytelling event to be held in West Palm Beach, Florida.

West Palm Beach—what was, what is, what could be

The primary goals of the festival will be to build community by sharing experiences and celebrating diversity. In harmony with these goals, the festival will also support literacy in the community.

Through stories in the form of:

story circles
short stories poetry / rap / spoken word oral histories / journalism speakers / workshops / panels photography / other visual arts music / other performing arts

The following themes will be explored:

social equity environmental justice economic prosperity
safe communities
civic engagement

Please contact Serena Schreiber Hoermann at stories@serenaschreiber.com or 561-222-5309 to discuss how you or your organization can get involved.

urbanstoriesfestival.com